

SUMMARY OF JUDGEMENTS

PERSONAL, SOCIAL AND EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Judgement: Very Good

Children are confident and enthusiastic learners. They make choices about their play and take initiative. Firm relationships are established as children share, take turns and work co-operatively. They behave well and are sensitive to others needs. Children are engaged in many worthwhile and exciting activities that build concentration and motivation for example, planting trees. Children demonstrate their independence in selecting to play outside and changing into appropriate clothes.

COMMUNICATION, LANGUAGE AND LITERACY

Judgement: Very Good

Children benefit from the clear emphasis on listening and skilful interpretation of non-verbal communication. They speak clearly and confidently as they engage both adults and their friends in conversation. Children are encouraged to notice print and the sounds of letters in words and successfully recognise their names. Children have excellent opportunities to develop writing skills through a variety of exciting opportunities such as creative play, they delight in making magazines.

MATHEMATICAL DEVELOPMENT

Judgement: Very Good

Children count confidently they experience weighing, sorting and pattern making through excellent practical activities for example sorting pegs and cooking. They benefit from the consistent use of mathematical language. They successfully repeat it to describe shape, size, position and quantity. They ably problem solve for example when building bridges. Children clearly enjoy simple addition and subtraction through the skilful use of songs and rhyme.

KNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTANDING OF THE WORLD

Judgement: Very Good

Children have superb opportunities to learn about the natural world in the outdoor area. They dig for worms, explore roots with magnifying glasses, plant vegetables and trees. Excellent planned activities help them to notice changes that occur as they blend ingredients and make bubbles. Children carefully make models from construction kits and are adept at using glue and tape to join recycled materials. They observe the weather and talk about events in their lives as they learn about beliefs.